Payment

Before a booking can be confirmed, the party leader must sign and return the booking form. Payment is often, but not always, in two stages, which equate to the total amount owed to cover the price of course or service provided. At the time of booking, we will send you a booking summary, documenting your total liability for your stay. However, additional costs may be added to this, by mutual agreement, to cover transport for courses (not included in our standard course price). Each stage will include a component of VAT.

Please use BACS transfers. If used, cheques should be made payable to Lochranza Centre CIC.

First stage deposit: This will be charged as 20% of the overall fee + VAT, and is refundable due to covid. It is also transferable to a substitute party member or to a mutually convenient alternative date.

Once the deposit is paid, the course fee above is guaranteed. If the deposit is not paid, the prices above cannot be guaranteed, as our prices may be subject to increases in the future. In these circumstances any party leader has the right to cancel any provisional booking.

Final payment: 1 week prior to arrival the final balance of 80% of the course fee + VAT will be required.

At this stage, if the course content is not finalised to include Centre transport provision, then an additional Final Balance Invoice, covering the extra cost, may follow either just before or just following the date of the trip.

A payment date will accompany each of the invoices and payment should be in our bank with funds available to Lochranza Centre CIC by this date. Failure to meet these times would constitute a breach of contract. Lochranza Centre would be entitled to issue a penalty charge of 4% interest payable on the amount outstanding.

Currently we are not charging any cancellation costs: you pay for those you bring!
